Lifespan of apparel textiles

Only estimates available

Table 27. Types of lifespans

Type	Definition
Total lifespan	The period during which an apparel textile retains its original form, irrespective of its functional condition.
Service lifespan	The time an apparel textile remains functional and usable, considering its use by both the initial and subsequent owners. This timeframe initiates upon the product's acquisition by the first owner and concludes when the last owner disposes of it.
Possession span	The period of time in which an apparel textile is held by a specific owner. This timeframe does not discriminate whether the apparel textile is used subsequently by another person or it is disposed of.
Duration in use	The period of time a single owner utilises the apparel textile, considering only the use time (i.e. the time it is worn).
Physical lifespan	The period of time an apparel textile can be worn before it exhibits a level of wear beyond what is deemed acceptable.

Current voluntary EU GPP criteria

Useful learnings for mandatory requirements

Unknown uptake

Suggestions from the questionnaire

- Clear requirements → manufacturers can meet the demand,
- Address premature disposal due to contracting or budget reasons
- Facilitate verification process for procurers, who are usually not sustainability experts
- Establishing a Life Cycle Costing framework
- Establishing a framework including environmental and social aspects in the whole value chain
- Support public authorities to adopt common strategies of purchasing and disposing

Public procurement and current EU GPP criteria Q&A

Do you agree with the analysis performed on public procurement? Why?
